

Adrian SHATFORD

Principal Architect & Health Facility Planner

Dip Arch RIBA

Adrian was formerly a Principal of Health Facilities Planning of Oxford. He is knowledgeable in the spatial requirements, planning and design of healthcare premises. He is able to analyse particular local requirements and solve planning problems as well as developing strategic overviews.

As a Senior Architect in the Oxford Regional Health Authority (until 1989) he gained extensive experience in the development and implementation of health projects throughout the region. Subsequently he worked as a Health Planner and Architect with D'Arcy Rose Computer Aided Design Consultants, before becoming Deputy Director of Organisation Management Systems (OMS) from 1992-95.

His experience encompasses health planning for large hospital estates, space utilisation studies and functional suitability surveys, option appraisals for the rationalisation of major NHS sites, development of appraisal methodology and potential savings in NHS estate utilisation, and extensive involvement in estate strategy and hospital planning and design. Since 1996 Adrian has been working with Ann Noble Architects. He has been involved in numerous health projects including:
